Ricky Paul Goldin

Bio

RICKY PAULL GOLDIN's entertainment career took off at the age of 3. As a youngster, he starred in Romper Room, Alf, Kate & Allie, 21 Jump Street and by the age of 15 he had made it to BROADWAY, starring in ON GOLDEN POND. By age 18, Goldin had appeared in over 150 television commercials, winning four CLIOs. Ricky's list of achievements is impressive: movies, TV comedy, drama, and theater (straight plays & musicals) with command performances for 4 US Presidents. In addition, his quick wit makes hosting easy for him. He has hosted everything from ESPN auto races in Dubai, to 5 Live from the Red Carpet Emmy events for Disney/ABC.

Ricky has enjoyed great success in musical theater, from Rock to Gilbert & Sullivan. He was handpicked by Tommy Tune and Jeff Calhoun from 3000 performers to Star as Danny Zuko in the Broadway Revival of 'Grease' opposite Rosie O'Donnell and Brooke Shields. Ricky later starred in the 'The Pirates of Penzance' in London and at the Olympic Theater, the Broadway of Dublin, Ireland.

Ricky and daytime have proved to be a wonderful partnership. He was a series regular on Another World, Guiding Light, All My Children, and in Daytime's #1 series The Young and the Restless. Ricky can currently be seen on CBS's Bold and the Beautiful. Goldin has also signed on as a Series Regular and Producer on Beacon Hill. A joint venture between Open Book Productions and Bella Book Productions, this new Web Series is due to begin shooting in the fall.

Ricky's Uncle, Jack Gold, is the mogul movie Producer of, amongst others, 'The Guns of Navarone,' 'The Medusa Touch,' and 'The Merchant of Venice.' Producing is in his genes, and Ricky has always pursued his love of this process. With numerous successfully-created TV pilots already under his belt, in 2010 Ricky set out on a personal journey to pay tribute to his late father, Dr. Paul Goldin, a superstar of the world of hypnotism and Master of the paranormal. 'SeeingVSBelieving,' with Ricky as its creator, Producer and host, premiered on TLC in May 2010.

Ricky and his TV Production Company, GoldLine Entertainment, have produced shows for ABC TV and ESPN Sports, as well as created and sold original content to TLC, The STYLE Network, and MTV. They also have a new show in development for the HGTV/DIY Networks.

Shortly after Ricky ended his run on All My Children, Disney Family.com picked him to Star in their collaboration with Kellogg's for a new brand of on-line advertising. 'CeReality' is Disney Family's cutting edge mini web series, and it debuted in late September 2011. The first of the series-'The Young and the Breakfast'- took an affectionate tongue-in-cheek poke at the soap opera genre and gave Ricky the perfect vehicle to showcase his natural comedic timing.

Combine Ricky's easy-going hosting style with a life-long passion for home renovation, and a design show was waiting to happen. After appearing in HGTV's 'Favorite Places' where the Network featured his home in California, HGTV offered Ricky his own design Series. 'Spontaneous Construction' premiered in February 2013 on HGTV, where it will continue to air as well as live in a new time slot over on the DIY Network.

Born in San Francisco January 5 to Irish and British parents, Ricky Goldin was raised on both sides of the Atlantic, attended Fordham University, and studied with the best acting coaches in the business. Ricky shares his world with his fiancée Gretta Monahan, and their son Kai Rei Goldin, born October 21, 2010.

Ricky Paul Goldin

Hosting Bio

Growing up with an internationally famed father who was a world renowned hypnotist and master of the paranormal, multi Emmy-nominated television personality Ricky Paul Goldin travelled the real world continually as a youngster. With a naturally outgoing personality, Ricky's travels and exposure to the entertainment world have shaped who he is: a keen wit with an inquisitive, easy going approach to people that translates into a unique ability to relate to anyone, to chat, ask questions and get answers about anything and everything. It's no wonder, then, that hosting and interviewing come easily to Ricky.

Whether he's interacting with fans, hosting major primetime TV events or his own productions, Ricky's distinct and innate style adapts to the occasion. He's equally comfortable in business, social or entertainment settings. Ricky's hosting credits are varied and run the gamut from network TV to sports, to charitable events, to design shows.

Goldin hosted ESPN's auto racing and the Dubai World Cup Horse Race with a $6 million purse. After the big race, Ricky was chosen by the Sheiks to do the in-flight programming for Emirates airline. Ricky was host at a glittering charity gala at the fabulous Waldorf Astoria in NYC and co-hosted a tribute to Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., with Sarah Jessica Parker.

During his time at CBS, the network often turned to Ricky for special projects. He hosted a series of one-on-one interviews during a major promo for CBS Daytime programming. Going behind the scenes, Ricky revealed soap secrets and interviewed cast members. The result was a rare insight into the world of CBS daytime that heralded yet another opportunity for Ricky. CBS Daytime launched an internet call-in chat show and tapped Ricky as its host. CBS's weekly Soapbox was a huge success. CBS was not the only network to recognize Ricky's skills. He hosted the ground breaking and successful dating show Street Match on ABC Primetime. This led to appearances on several Primetime Live from the Red Carpet Emmy shows for ABC, where Ricky hosted, presented and was nominated during the ceremonies. Ricky (partnered with Bruce Nash at Nash Ent.) hosted a TV pilot, "Wired & Fired," and TV Guide Channel also turned to Ricky to host a segment for a daytime special.

In 2010, Ricky returned to his childhood roots and embarked on a personal journey. He needed to honor his father's dying wish that he reveal mysteries of the paranormal and distinguish those who have the gift from those who are frauds. Having lived it through his father's work, Ricky tapped in to his own instinctual understanding to host his own production – Seeing VS Believing – for TLC. Ricky's special interviewing skills and intuition were the perfect combination to get to the truth. So powerful was the presentation that TLC bought it immediately and aired it as a one-hour special.

Switching direction, in 2011 Ricky hosted a light hearted behind the scenes look at Disney Family's hit web series CeReality – a collaboration with Kellogg's and a cutting edge new approach to on line advertising. This concept gave Ricky a chance to combine his hosting skills with his comedic timing.

Also in 2011, Ricky hosted a TV tour of his home in California for HGTV's "Favorite Places." HGTV was so impressed with Ricky and his easy style that they invited him to join the Network as host of a unique design show in development. Shot on location in New England during summer 2012, Season 1 of "Spontaneous Construction" premiered in February 2013, on HGTV where it will continue to air as well as live in a new time slot over on the DIY Network. The show is 'Extreme Make Over: Home Edition meets SMASH' - literally - and a perfect combination for Goldin. As host, he gets to reveal his life-long, and not generally known, passion for design/DIY, plus flex his special hosting skills

Ricky Goldin was born in San Francisco on January 5 to Irish and British parents and raised on both sides of the Atlantic. Ricky shares his life with his fiancée Gretta Monahan and their son Kai Rei Goldin, born October 21, 2010.

Goldin is represented by Brian Speiser at APA.

Ricky Paul Goldin

Production Bio

In his book, The Moving Image, Gorham Kindem writes that “Producers are risk takers, who seize an idea, run with it, and convince others to follow them.” In the case of Ricky Paul Goldin, we can add heredity to that list. Ricky’s Uncle, Jake Gold, is the mogul movie Producer of many blockbusters including “The Guns of Navarone,” “The Medusa Touch,” and “The Merchant of Venice.” Producing is in Goldin’s genes; he has the brain of a producer.

Even when his work appeared concentrated on his acting career – on TV, on stage and via the internet – Ricky always pursued his love of the production process. While still only in his 20s and in the early years of a phenomenal run on Broadway and then in Daytime TV, Ricky co-created, produced (along with Gabe Sachs of Sachs/Judah), and starred in ABC’s primetime summer hit, “Street Match,” a groundbreaking reality TV show about dating. Ricky then again intuitively tapped into the fledgling concept of reality TV as Creator/Producer (partnered with Bruce Nash at Nash Ent.) for a TV pilot called “Wired & Fired.”

Production deals with Telepictures and Warner Brothers followed, with Goldin using his production expertise to combine a computer game – “You Don’t Know Jack” – with prime time TV. In 2001, Ricky co-created and produced “FLY-TV,” a variety show-style pilot for Viacom.

2003 saw Ricky producing “The Celebrity Arabian Adventure,” shot entirely on location in Dubai for ESPN2, as well as the In-flight Programming for Emirates Airlines. He then produced the half-hour comedy pilot “Knockouts” starring Lou Rawls, which segued into a deal with Emmy award winning writer Maxine Lapiduss to produce the one hour dramedy “Doin Life.”

With numerous successful projects already under his belt, in 2010 Ricky, and his TV Production Company, GoldLine Entertainment (www.GoldLineEntertainment.com), set out on a personal journey to pay tribute to his late father, Dr. Paul Goldin, a globally respected PhD in the world of hypnotism and a Master of the paranormal. Goldin needed to honor his father’s dying wish that he reveal mysteries of the paranormal and distinguish those who have the gift from those who are frauds. For this special project, Goldin teamed up with Leftfield Productions (PAWN STARS). With Ricky as its Creator and Producer, “Seeing VS Believing” premiered on TLC in May 2010 as a one-hour special.

Goldin kicked off 2012 with the acquisition of the European reality hit format “Celebrity Salon.” Goldin debuted the US version at the 2012 Realscreen Summit.

Goldin is currently executive producing for The STYLE Network and most recently he and GoldLine partnered with Magilla Entertainment to produce a TV Pilot – “All About the Benjamins” - for MTV, with Ricky as Executive Producer. Goldin has also joined the Production team for a new Web Series, Beacon Hill. Mired in Massachusetts politics, Beacon Hill is a joint venture between Open Book Productions and Bella Book Productions. Goldin will also be a Series Regular. Earlier in 2013, Ricky was Executive Producer for a special episode of HGTV’s Spontaneous Construction. The episode, shot on location in Long Beach, NY, was featured on ABC’s The View and aired on HGTV the same day.

Goldin and GoldLine have co-production deals with the following US production companies: Powderhouse Productions, Snackoholic, The Idea Factory, Bischoff Hervey Entertainment, BCII, Juma Entertainment, Leftfield Pictures, Departure Films and Bray Entertainment. Ricky and GoldLine are also teaming up in Canada with JV Productions and Tricon Films & Television.

Ricky Goldin is represented by Brian Speiser at APA, and John Ferriter at OCTAGON.
